

Lifeline Voices - Terms

This document outlines terms and what you can expect from your involvement.

Contents

What to expect

Can I be part of this?

How will I be involved?

How will I be contacted and how often?

Am I committed to staying involved?

What will happen with my personal information?

Will I be paid for my involvement?

How will I know the value of my involvement?

Our commitment to you

Emotional support

Regular updates

Inclusivity and accessibility

Evaluation and continuous improvement

Feedback and communication

Agreement

What to expect

At Lifeline Australia, we are deeply committed to supporting Australians during tough times and ensuring their safety from suicide. We recognise that this is not achievable without people like you.

Your insights, experiences, and perspectives are invaluable to us. By actively engaging with our products and services, you offer us the guidance and feedback required for continuous improvement and adaptation to the changing needs of those we serve.

By choosing to be a Lifeline Voice, you become a vital partner in our ongoing journey to make a positive impact on the lives of Australians who may be facing tough times. Your willingness to share your thoughts, preferences, and suggestions has the power to drive meaningful change.

We really look forward to working with you.

Can I be part of this?

In order to become a Lifeline Voice you need to:

- Live in Australia
- Be aged 16+
- Be comfortable to communicate in English

How will I be involved?

We know everyone has their own preferences for how they'd like to participate and contribute. We have a range of different participation options available to you.

We'll always respect the preferences you've selected when enrolling, and will only contact you for the types of engagements you've chosen. You can always update these preferences by contacting us.

The different ways you can participate include:

1:1 Interviews

- Where we ask you to use our product or website while we observe and ask questions to learn how we can make it better and more user-friendly.
- Where we invite you to give us insights into your experiences. These insights can help us ascertain whether new products/services are worth pursuing.

Focus Groups

- Coming together with a small group of others to talk about a product, service, or topic, sharing your thoughts and opinions to help improve it.

Surveys

- A way for us to ask you a set of questions to understand your thoughts, preferences, and experiences quickly and easily.

Content Review

- Where you can check and provide feedback on the information and/or materials on our website (or other platforms) in your own time, to make sure they are clear, accurate, and useful for you.

Project-specific details

For surveys and content review options, you will receive clear instructions specific to the engagement you have signed up for. For 1:1 user testing research, 1:1 interviews, and focus group engagements, you will receive specific project details, objectives, and expectations, including the estimated time commitment and the expected outcomes.

How will I be contacted and how often?

We will contact you via the email address you provided in your initial application.

Lifeline's level of engagement with you will be dependent on whether you have indicated that you are comfortable with ad-hoc requests for engagement or prefer advanced written notice for planned involvement.

Communication etiquette

We understand that everyone has busy lives. While participating in our user testing, we kindly request that you respond to our communications within 72 hours whenever possible.

Am I committed to staying involved?

We value your agency and autonomy in the level of involvement you have in our projects.

Throughout your engagement with Lifeline Australia, you will be consistently reminded of your right to control your level of participation.

You can choose to increase or decrease, pause or cancel your involvement, at any time, based on your comfort and availability.

Opt-out and withdrawal.

You have the right to opt-out of engagement opportunities at any time without any repercussions. We respect your decision, and it will not affect any future engagement opportunities with Lifeline Australia.

To opt out email lifelinevoices@lifeline.org.au.

Flexible engagement.

We understand that life can be unpredictable, and your availability may change. You have the agency to adjust your level of involvement as needed. Your comfort and wellbeing always come first, and we will be guided by you.

What will happen with my personal information?

Lifeline Australia respects your privacy and confidentiality. Any information shared during your involvement will be handled with the utmost care and in accordance with our privacy policies.

The experiences and ideas you share will be de-identified and used to to inform how we design and improve our products and services. All information is stored securely and will never be disclosed to third parties.

If you would like to change your details, or access a copy of your information, please email lifelinevoices@lifeline.org.au.

Will I be paid for my involvement?

We are unable to engage in this important work without your valuable contributions. To show our appreciation for your time and effort, we would like to offer a Digital Gift Card for each engagement you participate in. The Gift Card amount will vary depending on the type/s of engagement/s you participate in. Further details will be communicated to you as engagement opportunities arise.

How will I know the value of my involvement?

We know it's important that you have options to see how your involvement has contributed to the work we're doing.

For engagements in which you participate or contribute, we'll give you options to be informed about how your contributions informed the project, product, service and/or Lifeline's broader mission.

You will receive the final outputs of your involvement or engagement, such as reports, findings, or summaries related to the project/s you have contributed to.

Lifeline Australia acknowledges your valuable contributions, and we are committed to sharing the results and outcomes of your involvement with you.

Our commitment to you

Emotional support

We understand that participating in discussions or experiences related to mental health and crisis situations can be emotionally challenging. Lifeline Australia is committed to your wellbeing, and after engaging in any sessions that may be emotionally taxing, you will have the option to debrief with the team. Your mental and emotional health matters to us.

Regular updates

Where relevant, Lifeline Australia will keep you informed about project progress and any changes in the engagement schedule or requirements.

We will also offer you the opportunity to sign up for bi-monthly email updates about how the work you have been engaged in has contributed to Lifeline Australia. These emails will also include information about other projects, callouts with upcoming project-specific needs, and other relevant opportunities for participation.

Inclusivity and accessibility

Lifeline Australia is committed to providing an inclusive and accessible engagement experience. If you have any accessibility needs or require accommodations, please inform us in advance so that we can make the necessary arrangements to facilitate your participation.

Evaluation and continuous improvement

Lifeline Australia is committed to ongoing evaluation and improvement of the engagement process. You may be asked to provide feedback on your experience to help enhance future engagements.

Feedback and communication

Lifeline Australia encourages open and honest feedback about your engagement experiences. Your input will help us continually improve our engagement process.

We are here to listen, assist, and address any concerns promptly. If you have any concerns or questions, please feel free to reach out to the email below.

lifelinevoices@lifeline.org.au

Agreement

We deeply value your involvement in Lifeline Australia's user testing, and we kindly request your cooperation in adhering to these terms of engagement. Your dedication to this agreement plays a pivotal role in ensuring the success of our projects and initiatives. Thank you for your support and we look forward to having you on board.

Thank you for your commitment to Lifeline Australia. Your involvement is a beacon of hope, a source of inspiration, and a catalyst for change. We look forward to working together to make a positive impact on the mental health and wellbeing of Australians.